Welcome to MyInHouseTravel.com

Your* Discount Corporate Travel Service

MyInHouseTravel.com is unique among all U.S. Travel Agencies

Allow us to explain why

How can any Travel Agency claim to be “unique”?

MyInHouseTravel.com is a full service,
personalized, corporate travel agency.

Unlike every other travel agency...

we do not accept commissions from any air carrier, hotel or car rental company when booking through Internet sites.

So we are free to research and select the absolute lowest cost fares and pass 100% of the savings on to our clients.

Now, that is unique!

Only* MyInHouseTravel.com does the extra research needed to provide its clients with the absolute lowest possible rates for Air, Hotel, and Car rentals.

GUARANTEED!

How low is “low”?

Typically 27-55% less than the “corporate” rates that are offered through a typical travel agent

Does “Hotel Savings” mean “Low End Hotels”?

Quite the contrary.

Most of the time we are able to locate higher quality hotels for the same or less money than standard rooms of lower star ratings.

Travelers save money while they enjoy better accommodations at the same time.

How do we do it?

We utilize many different techniques. Everything from checking our own database (for low rates and deals we have recently booked for other travelers) to scouring the internet for the best spot deals out there

Why can't any travel agent do this?

The answer is simple:

travel agents work on commissions, so they benefit when you spend as much as possible.

They don't receive a commission when they book hotels or cars via the Internet so they have no incentive to find you the lowest costs.

They also don't have access to the database and resources we have accumulated through years of booking business travel and from our own personal experience from decades of business travel ourselves.

Why can't each individual traveler do this?

They could. But would you really want to spend the hours of research time necessary to try and find the lowest air, hotel and car rates yourself if you traveled on a regular basis?

If a travel professional could do the job at a cost which was less than the savings they could offer, wouldn't it be wiser to take advantage of such a full service (cost free) procedure?

Which is more efficient?

The skills of each business traveler lie in his/her own field and are best utilized doing their own jobs, not scanning the Internet for deals.

Sometimes the simplest things are best outsourced. Think Gardeners or Car Washes; you could do it yourself, but why?

Why can't an in-house travel department do this?

They could if they had sufficient staff and time. But which is more cost efficient, outsourcing to a full service staff of ex-road warriors using a proprietary database of low cost Internet rates...

...an in-house salaried employee (with all the incumbent overhead costs) who is overwhelmed by requests for travel itineraries and likely to book whatever is at hand rather than take the time to research each trip?

Does MyInHouseTravel.com do personal vacation packages?

Individuals traveling on leisure have the time to spend the many hours needed to research a trip and given enough time often they can find the same low rates by themselves.

Our main focus is on providing this personalized service to corporate travelers who have neither the time nor desire to actively seek out the lowest cost air, hotel and car for their frequent business trips.

However, if a leisure client knows where he wants to go (and when) we can book the trip the same as we would any other.

Customer Care

We never refer our clients to our web site and ask them to book their own trips.

A trained MIHT agent handles each traveler's itinerary personally. Our staff of experienced ex-business travelers know what an actual business trip is all about.

In a great many cases they have traveled to the same cities and stayed at the same hotels and can make constructive suggestions to help make a trip smoother.

Advantages to Management

Utilizing our database of Internet fares we are able to guarantee the management of any company that when MIHT.com books a trip it will be at the lowest available rates.

Gone is the conflict ever present when employees must present travel costs for review and approval by the Purchasing or Comptrollers Department.

MIHT.com provides reports showing actual savings resulting from the use of Internet rates.

Advantages to the Traveler

Using MIHT provides travelers with full service, one-stop shopping for their business travel.

They submit an itinerary via phone, e-mail or text message and receive our trip recommendations

Booking through MIHT.com assures the traveler that they are being booked on the most direct & economical flights, the best hotels and rental cars that are easy to pick up and drop off.

Once MIHT.com books a trip there is no need to justify the expense to management.

How much does it cost?

Our fees are very straightforward (and minimal):

- Book a flight: $25
- Hotel reservations: $15 first night,
$5 each additional night
- Car rentals: $10

MIHT Guarantee:

If we fail to save more than the cost of our fees on the hotel or car reservation, our fees are waived completely.

What do people typically save?

Based on our savings to our customers over our fiscal year ending 6/31/10 the savings were as follows:

- Air Fare: up to 60%
- Hotels: 30%-60%
- Car Rentals: 10%-50%

How does that translate into real costs?

In 2009 our average price of 3 and 4 star hotels was $72.89.

Compare that with typical costs of $149 to $275 a night for “corporate” rates at the same hotels.

50-70%
Savings!
